SGUK is supporting both the BOHS "Breathe Freely" campaigns and IOSH "No time to loose" campaigns as they both assist in the UK's push to combat long latency disease reduction and provide valuable information to assist workers as signposted in the SGUK "Health Risks at Work- Do you know yours?" initiative.
We also support the UK "Health and Safety Week" scheduled for June and provided a supporting article earlier this year:

"Long latency disease is the elephant in the room"
John Cairns, SGUK

"Long latency disease is the elephant in the room" John Cairns, chairman of Safety Groups UK, talks to Health and Safety Week about the importance of getting the message across simply and working together to raise a...
